Admissions Information for the Graduate School of Engineering

School of Engineering,
The University of Tokyo
Rich in History, Strong in Innovation

Website

For more information about study opportunities in the Graduate School of Engineering, please refer to the URL below;
<http://www.t.u-tokyo.ac.jp/soee/admission/index.html>

Regular Admission

To enroll in the Graduate School of Engineering as a master or doctoral student, applicants are required to pass an entrance examination conducted by each department.

Special Graduate Programs for International Students

An alternative to regular admission, students admitted through Special Graduate Programs for International Students directly enter master or doctoral programs at the Graduate School of Engineering. Applicants for Special Graduate Programs for International Students must satisfy the following primary eligibility requirements.

Additional requirements must also be satisfied.

- A foreign national who is not a permanent resident of Japan, and
- A foreign national who does not currently reside in Japan.

Japanese Government (Monbukagakusho: MEXT) scholarship through the Japanese Embassy in applicants' home country

First, applicants must contact their home country's Japanese embassy about preliminary selection. After passing the preliminary selection, they will be further evaluated by Graduate School of Engineering, the University of Tokyo for acceptance.

Scholarships

The Graduate School of Engineering will recommend outstanding students from the Special Graduate Programs for International Students to scholarship sponsors. Those who are selected will be notified during the course of the selection process.

- Japanese Government (Monbukagakusho: MEXT) scholarship through the University of Tokyo,
- The University of Tokyo Special Scholarship for International Students (University of Tokyo Fellowship), and
- Private organizations' scholarships recommended through the Graduate School of Engineering.

The Graduate School of Engineering encourages applicants to apply directly for any applicable scholarships to facilitate academic life at the University of Tokyo.
